MR. JOSEPH A. LEARY
HEAD MASTER

FOREWORD

Today in our modern world a high school diploma is recognized as a symbol of a major scholastic attainment. This document indicates that the recipient, having successfully completed a prescribed course of study, has the prerequisite for further advancement in the quest for knowledge.

In a few days you, the members of the Senior Class of Brighton High School, will be awarded the diplomas attesting your competence to accept any challenges that confront you. Each worth-while accomplishment lends additional confidence and strength to cope with new problems.

Your Head Master extends his sincere congratulations to you, the members of the Brighton High School Class of 1956, and he prays that God will bless and spare you to live long, happy, and useful lives.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Many times before, this auditorium has housed a similar gathering of individual people, and for a purpose identical with ours today. Class Day, memorable in the life of any high school senior, was established as a day of joyful celebration and commemoration of an educational period in our lives. This particular occasion has given our class the opportunity to express our gratitude to our parents and friends; to let them well know that their understanding and constant encouragement have contributed in no small measure to our accomplishments thus far. No less important do we regard our teachers, each of whom has expended many hours and untold energy in our behalf.

We have gathered together, in a spirit of fun and good fellowship, to bequeath to those we leave behind the things we think they most richly deserve, and in like spirit we will attempt to predict what lies ahead for others.

Precedent rules that, at this point, I should be concerned with the manner in which we must conduct our lives, now that we are on the brink of young manhood and womanhood; I should speak of the future and those things that will make us democratic-thinking adults in a prosperous American economy. But, since the Presidents of many Classes before this have ably treated these subjects with the fullness and integrity due them, I have decided, after much deliberation, to concern myself with the PRESENT.

There is much talk, in this great land of ours, about "democracy," "equality," and "fairness." I humbly but proudly submit that there is a place where these words have a real significance. That place is HERE. Yes, we, the students of this Brighton High School Graduating Class, have set an example that might well be noted by other youths and adults in all parts of our land. In this very hall are representatives of almost every race, creed, and color—students who have proven both by word and by action that color of skin is not the criterion by which a man is judged; that religion is to be respected, not ridiculed; that place of birth does not determine innate ability or intelligence. For spreading of goodwill and brotherhood throughout our school and our different communities we deserve no praise. We are not perfect, but we graduates must constantly strive for perfection and hope that the students we leave behind will do the same. Looking back in future years we can be thankful for the broad, valuable education we received here. We can reminisce, safe in this assurance:

The good that has come to us during our high school years far overshadows the bad; we have learned much of beneficial and have unlearned much of the harmful—and this is the true purpose of education.

EVELYN BURNS
SPIRIT OF
BRIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL
CLASS OF 1956

CLASS SONG-1956

Words and music by Suzanne Wolfe, '56

Our voices high we gladly raise
To sing thy never-ending praise;
Oh! Brighton High, so dear,
The parting time is near.

Today we leave these shelt'ring halls
To go wherever duty calls;
Though roadways take us far,
Fair Brighton is our star.

As we face with courage high
All the years may tell,
All thy loving children sigh
Their loyal hearts' farewell.

CLASS ORATION

The day has finally come when the Class of 1956 is about to emerge from a relatively sheltered life into one which at present seems overpowering. But those of us who have taken full advantage of the wonderful privilege of free education may find ourselves able to face the uncertain future.

Exactly what does this future hold for us? It is a well known fact that the world as we know it is being threatened. The peace that we take so much for granted could be wiped out with the flash of an atomic blast.

Still there is a bright side to our future. The much dreaded atomic energy can be harnessed and used for the good of humanity. Many new medical discoveries which can relieve human suffering are being brought forth. One of these is the long awaited Salk vaccine which in the future will save many lives.

The world is ready for us; the big question is: Are we ready for it? We have certainly come a long way from those scared youngsters who found that going to school meant leaving Mother behind. That was the first and most important step in our growing up. From that moment on we realized that life went beyond our natural surroundings, but it did not yet occur to us that childhood does not last forever.

Always before we have had the comforting thought that whatever we did we had someone to lean on. Parents we have found are wonderful in a crisis, however small. The older we grew the wiser we became, or so we thought. We knew all the answers and would take correction from no one. Finally we discovered that others had ideas and by listening to them we could learn a great deal.

We have reached a crossroad in our life, and what we choose to do with our future is up to us. We have been endowed with understanding parents who have taken care of all our needs, superb teachers who have instilled in us the desire for learning and knowledge, and loyal classmates who have taught us the real meaning of friendship. All these factors have contributed to the growth and maturity that will make us well rounded citizens of tomorrow.

What better day could we have selected for recalling the past and looking ahead proudly and unflinching to our glorious future than Class Day. Let us make a pact that we as the graduates of the Class of 1956 will never let down those who have helped us and that we will do everything in our power to become good citizens and help to keep America a good place in which to live.

CLASS POEM

FORWARD

Lofty towers rising,
Reaching toward the sky—
Symbol of the soaring dreams
Born at Brighton High!

Serene above the city
Our home of learning stands,
Unchanging in the midst of change,
To guide young hearts and hands.

Swiftly have sped the happy years
Within these hallowed walls,
Our eager feet and merry voices
Echoing through the halls.

We stand now where the ways divide,
And only time can tell
Who will falter; who will meet
Life's dark hazards well.

Dear Brighton! You have taught us
To face a world's deep need,
To act with high endeavor,
And generous word and deed.

Inspired by the noble vision
Your fostering care imparts,
To building a happier world for all
We dedicate stalwart hearts.

CLASS POET
JANICE FINKLE

The beckoning road lies waiting—
Safe-sheltered here no more,
Half-fearful, half-reluctant,
We close your timeless door.

Poised now upon the threshold,
Each seeks his separate way,
To discover new means of learning
In the challenge of each new day.

Alone, but with souls undaunted,
For your lessons have made us strong
In the love of truth and justice,
And desire to conquer wrong.

We turn to the future, grateful
For your guidance, dear Brighton High.
May our lives add lasting garlands
To your fame as years go by.

CLASS HISTORY

As we near the end of our stay at the "Castle on the Hill," let us stop to reminisce as we recall the joys and sorrows that we have experienced at B.H.S. How our hearts leaped when, as sophomores, we gazed upon the gray castle-like structure that was to be our "home" for the next three years. Soon, as the days sped by, we, having been instilled with school spirit, became a part of all the extra-curricular activities.

Out on the gridiron Ronny Janey and Grant Tice were the pride of our class.

When the first issue of the Towers arrived with its familiar black and orange cover, many a sophomore beamed with pride as he came face to face with his name in print.

January brought those enormous question marks, which, adorning the corridors and the lunch room, were an enigma to us, the uninformed sophomores. We soon discovered that they heralded the Talent Show of '54. It was here that the gifted members of our class made their initial appearance, dancing and singing their way into the hearts of all.

Our February and April vacations sped by. Then, with all the hard work of studying, the remaining few months seemed to fly; and before we realized it, June arrived bringing with it our ever-welcome ten weeks' vacation.

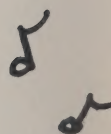

The summer passed all too quickly; but we, now the Junior Class, felt a certain feeling of belonging, of satisfaction as we ascended the hill on our first day of school. The happiness with which we returned was dampened when we were told that Mr. Leary was ill and could not officially welcome us back to Brighton High School. The "Castle" seemed incomplete without Mr. Leary there to give a helping hand. We found also that Mr. Brigham and Mr. Virchow of the cooperative course had retired after a long and successful career.

On came the football season, and with it Marilyn Mann, our junior cheerleader whom we had elected the previous June. She represented us on the football field, doing her part to cheer the boys on to victory.

Christmas held a special significance at B.H.S. this year, because of the memorable pageant produced by Miss Maguire and Miss Sullivan, who ably directed the Seniors in their religious performance, so deeply significant of the true Christmas spirit.

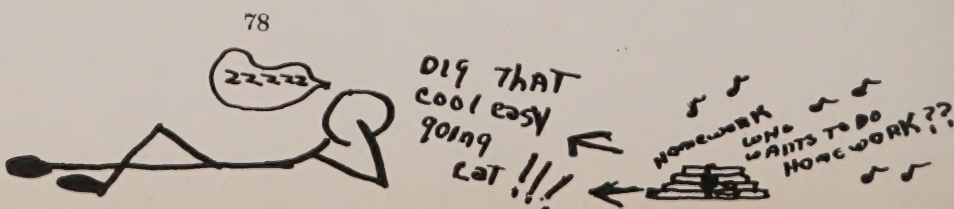

In one of the quietest and least competitive elections held in B.H.S., Lawrence Sanderson became President of the Junior-Senior Class; Rita Imbriano, Vice President; Elaine Tsirakis, Secretary; and June Donners, Treasurer.

It was a happy day for the students of B.H.S. when Mr. Wellings came to teach us chemistry. Although we mourned the loss of Mr. Gibbons, who had become Head Master of Dorchester High School, we rejoiced in his good fortune. Earlier in the year, we had received two charming editions to the faculty in the persons of Mrs. Elizabeth Hayward, who was to teach English to the boys of the cooperative course and Miss Florette Tremblay, the new typing teacher. In March, we welcomed Mr. Manfra and Mr. Vozella to the Cooperative Department.

It was during this winter that Kevin Morris, pride of the Hockey Team, was honored by being asked to play on the All-Star Team, making us fairly burst with pride. Another cause for rejoicing was that B.H.S. won the school boy parade.

With the advent of summer came the election of cheerleaders. Elected were Dianne Brack, Madeline Casale, Geraldine Lanno, Judy Loeb, Angela Poulos, Louise Sylvester, Pat Taylor, Elaine Tsirakis, and Barbara Volante.

As we left for our summer vacation, we bade our last good-byes to Miss Woods, Mr. Fuller, Mr. Romano, and Miss McCloskey, who retired after years of faithful service. The school, we felt, would not be the same without their charming and efficient personalities.

As September rolled around we, the lofty and exalted Seniors, watched the calendar impatiently awaiting our first day back. But because of one of the worst polio epidemics, the opening of school was postponed until September 22.

On that day, we found that Mrs. Rowell, Mr. Fleming, Dr. Moore, and Mr. Oakes had joined our faculty. Later in the year, "little Miss McCall" left us to take charge of Vocational Guidance at East Boston High School. How we missed her! To Mr. Sanford, who has taken her place, we extended a hearty welcome. At the end of September, Mr. Galvin, after years of faithful service, retired from the Cooperative Course.

Soon, Ellen Egan, Rita Imbriano, Dorothy Lewis, and Judith Loeb were chosen Co-Editors of the Gothic, while Pauline Tourles was chosen Editor of the Towers with Robert Bloom Associate Editor.

We knew our senior year had really begun when we were urged to pay dues for the Towers and the Gothic, whose editors implored us to have our pictures taken.

The various clubs were organized as soon as possible, and their officers were speedily elected.

Thanks to Margaret Conway and her gossip column in the Brighton Citizen, everyone was kept well-informed on what went on in and out-of school.

Because of the delay in the opening of school, and for the first time in the history of B.H.S., the Orange and Black played the last football game on Thanksgiving Day, winning over Roslindale High School with a score of 26-6. Captain Tice, Roderick Ames, James Houhoulis, Ronald Janey, William Kelly, Tony Longo, Walter Muchowski, Thomas Mundy, Wally Stewart, Louis Vogel, and Lawrence Waters were cheered on to victory not only by their schoolmates but by the cheerleaders in orange felt skirts, black turtleneck sweaters, and beanies. The boys performed magnificently, making Coach Murphy and Assistant Coach Carty very proud of them.

As in the past at Christmas, members of the Key Club, headed by President Robert Brady, Vice President Kevin Morris, and Treasurer David Fox, took gifts, which had been donated by the pupils, to the children of the Kennedy Memorial.

The basketball season was soon upon us with Captain Tony Longo, Richard Calabro, Ronny Janey, and Louis Vogel the stars of our team. For the second time in the history of our school, the team was eligible to participate in the Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tournament, commonly known as the Tech Tourney.

January 23, election day, soon arrived. In an election that did not bubble over until the candidates waged a battle of words on the stage, we elected Ronald Janey, President; Kevin Morris, Vice President; Judith Bowen, Secretary; Clara Terzis, Treasurer; Brenda Cohen, Orator; and Pauline Tourles, Historian. Elected to serve on the Executive Committee were Louise Sylvester, Chairman, with her two aides, Judith Loeb and Ronnie Rockwell. The Marshals were headed by Chief Marshal Ellen Egan, assisted by Joan Brown, Joanne Garrett, Lorraine Kassatly, Louise Hallenbrook, Johnetta Jones, Barbara Oakes, and Jane Story.

Ronald Janey was the most envied boy in the school when he was chosen to represent Brighton High School on Good Government Day. Ronny brought more honor to his Alma Mater when his speech was commended by the Honorable Harold Stassen.

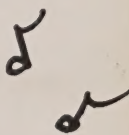

Not to be outdone, Kevin Morris, who, along with Thomas Mundy, was chosen to participate on the All-Star Hockey Team, heaped more laurels upon himself and the "Castle" when he was given the Milton Zelmeyer award for being the most outstanding senior sportsman in the Boston Public Schools.

March came to Brighton High and with it the advent of our Class Day rehearsals. For the first time we heard the words and music of our class song which had been written by Suzanne Wolfe.

Time sped by on wings and before we knew it, it was May 11, the day of our Senior Prom. The Regency Ballroom of the Somerset Hotel was the perfect setting for the frothily-gowned girls and their dinner-jacketed escorts.

Now all that remains of our days at Brighton High is that day of all days—Graduation. Although it may bring an end to our history in the "Castle on the Hill," I am certain that there are those among us who will rise to fame and success, bringing honor to Brighton High School and to the Class of 1956.

Pauline Tourles.

CLASS PROPHETS

CLASS PROPHECY

We, the class of 1956, a product of the atomic age, decided twenty years ago, that for our reunion no earthly habitation would suffice. And so, today, January 1, 1976, in affiliation with the Barbara Oakes Interplanetary Travel Agency, the Class of 1956 is gathering on the Moon. At the airport, the "About Our Moon" reporter, Ruthie Marcus, who was recently awarded the "I Speak For Moonocracy Award," and her assistants John Cameron Amoling, and that lovable snooper Nancy Mallen, are interviewing the Earthian arrivals in compliance with the wishes of the publisher of the "Moon Gazette," Alan Paul Allen. On the reception committee we find Connie Cokinos and Sally Trant, throwing leis of moonblooms, which were rocketed ahead from Bill Fairweather's moonbloom plantation, around the necks of the arrivals from planet Earth. Meanwhile, back at the ranch—but wait a minute, what's that in the sky? Oh! It's just Linda Levy flying by! Among the first to emerge from the Rocket Ship "Brightonia" is that glamorous musical comedy star Ellen Forman, and on hand to take her picture for the "Moon Gazette" is the 'flash-bulb kid' Jason Brooks, and right behind her comes Evelyn Burns, choreographer of the Rockets, that famed group of precision dancers which include Louise Hallenbrook, Sally Walsh, and Marilyn Adair. Next to emerge from the rocket ship is Mary Guarino, Interplanetary Speed Typing Champion, and behind her Jackie Bird, head of the I.B.I. (Interplanetary Bureau of Investigation) and her capable assistants Ralph Sullivan, Paul Greenwood, Butch Garland, and John Ballard. Next to disembark is the crew, the pride and joy of the Interplanetary Air Force; pilot, John Allen Smith; co-pilot, Gordon Boire; flight mechanic Edward Studdert; and stewardesses Zita Slidziasukas, Paula Canisius, and Joan Casey.

The next rocket isn't due for a couple of hours, so let's take a tour of the "great green way"; for our guide we have Domenic Silvestro, head of the "Happy Wanderers' Guide Service." Our first stop is at the local theatre where Juanna O'Neil and Gerald Doucette are co-starring in the smash hit, "Love is a Moony Splendored Thing" produced by Ronald Carlisle; fashions by Beverly Simms, Martha Turner, and Shirley Higdon; hair styles by Louise McKinnon and Antonetta Antonellis; and choreography by Judith Bowen. Down the street we pass the Milky Way Flying-in-Hospital, which was built by the Sargent Construction Co. Inside the hospital we find Pete Dindy, the boy who wanted to go places; well, he's realizing his ambition, he's going all around the hospital—you see, he's being chased by Pat Rice and Pat McGrath, two pretty nurses, who want to give him a needle. Outside the hospital we find Myrna Coltón, Joannie Brown, Janet Swan, and Ellie Lytle trying to land one of their patients. We say land, because they gave the poor fellow an overdose of those new Jet-Actioned Vitamin Tablets, the tablets that pick you up when you're feeling kind of low. Next stop on the agenda is the television station of W.M.O.O.N., where Al Cioppa, station director, escorts us through the various studios. In studio A, we find Norman Browall televising a musical show starring Mary Thain and her all-boy glee club. In studio B, June Donners, Joanne Garrett, and Ernestine Beshere, are going over their script with M.C. Bob Noble for the next broadcast of the "Dose-zey-Doe Show," the show that proves that even the squarest can dance. Finally, in studio C we are shown a show already in progress—it's the "Away We Go Show" starring comic Jimmy Houhoulis with his guests Suzanne Wolfe and her magic trumpet, and members of the Interplanetary All-Star Hockey Team, Kevin Morris, Tom Mundy, and Pete Borriello. Back on the street we meet reporter Martha Bucelewicz, who is on her way to interview three stars of the sport world, Richard Calabro, John Repta, and John Kannaly. Then on we go to the Successful Business Men's Club located on Currency Corner. We sneak by the doorman and to our right find Bill McGonigle, John McCarthy, Leo Najarian, and Warren Quinn engaged in a friendly game of moonocle. There at the opposite side of the room is Dick Ruu, owner of Moon's McBeth, and Walter Muchowski, elevator shoe tycoon, discussing their latest business transactions. At the billiard table we find Richard First, Earle Craig, head of the Second National Super-Market chain, Hank Slidziasukas, and Woody Woodlock, lumber magnate, enjoying a snappy game of billiards. And as we leave, we see Tom, Mac, and Tony, owners of the Livingstone, MacKinnon, and Tocci Novelty Co., manufacturers of the Davey Rocket Moonskin Space Helmets. Next we pass the testing grounds of the Ellsworth Research Laboratories. There are Ronny, his electronic technician William Richmond, and his mechanical engineer George Malouf giving their final inspection to a test rocket. Now here comes the crew for this rocket, James Tarpey, Tim Cole, and Angelo Malvone. These boys said they wanted to go places, and that they will. Right now they are going to be shot off into outer space. So long, boys!!! The next stop on our tour is Moon

Tech High, where we see the following members of the faculty, Pauline Tourles, Dolly Steriti, Nancy Misilo, the scourge of the Math Department, Mimi Silverman Twigg, the Pride of French V (who at the moment is 'energizing to her optimum'), Robert Bailey, those two masters from the garage Alan MacDonald and Bill Little, and the moon's answer to Miss Fee, those two lovely ladies of the school office, Kathy Kelly and Lorraine Kassatly, being chased by the irate student body.—(Hmph! That's what they call progressive education.) Because several members of this jolly group have fainted from sheer hunger, let's stop at Pete Nichols's Albanian Restaurant, where entertainment is provided by Robert 'Earl the Pearl' Gainey and his golden saxophone.

There are celebrities everywhere. There's Chuck Hamilton the 'big wheel' just in from Chicago with his private secretary Judy O'Connell at a ring-side table. In yonder corner is Sally Perry, author of the best seller, "How to be Happy," and Claire Blinderman, head of the Jet Typing School. And there's a fashionable table—look who's there!! Elizabeth Arden Stillings and Hazel Bishop Tibbetts, owners of the moon's most exclusive beauty salon, queen of the cosmetic industry, Kay Jackson, and fashion model Lenny Goldstein. On the way out, we meet that famous court reporter Peggy Wyman. Right now we're passing 'jetmobile row.' To the right is Don Colley's Colliac Village, and there are some of his best mechanics, Claude Wilson, Paul McCarter, Don Engdahl, and Ed Krupwich. Next door is Dugan and Barrett's Auto Body Shop with Dugie and Whitie at the front door. Hey, we're just in time for the opening of the new L & L Moonoco Service Station! There are the proud owners Danny Long and Johnny Lucacio; and here to wish them success are the representatives of the Garage Owners' Union, Local 1956, Johnny Kelleher, Bill Murphy, Clyde Davy, John Meade, Dave Murphy, Ken Canale, and Dave Murree. Down the street we pass the Ding and Dong Telephone Co., where those stars of the switchboard, Jackie Voye, Barbara Murphy, Carole Landry, Annie Harzbecker, and Jane Story are leaving for their afternoon coffee-break. The girls tell us that there's a fashion show for the working girl at the Georgelis Party House; so let's go. We're just in time to see Louise Goff model the latest Lassoff creation. Along with Louise are the other girls who volunteered their services as models for this special show: Pat McLaughlin, Maureen McHugh, Margie McKinnon, Pat Taylor, Pat Logan, Beverly Igoe, and Madeline Casale. Sitting in the audience are Irene, Connie, and Maggie, heads of the Johnson, Perry, and Glass Secretarial School. Behind them are sitting Barbara Thompson, Diane Harris, Florence Marple, Betsey Ready, and Beverly Small, five finalists in the Secretary of the Year Contest, and with them is Irene White, head of the Interplanetary Typing School. Next door, a dog show is taking place. Just look at the owners who won top prizes, Elaine Hannon and that famous veterinarian Judy Breen. Meanwhile back at the ranch—oops! We mean the airport—a huge crowd is gathering. There to hold the crowd back is Jo Anne Turk Tracey, pride of the women's police force. On hand to greet the second rocket ship is another reception committee consisting of those charming ladies, Sally Eiler, Nancy Fialkow, Joan Gagne, Dottie Philpott, and Nancy Burke. How many important people there are in this crowd! There are Irene Sculos, currently enjoying the success of her latest art exhibition, Priscilla Shields, head of the H.F.C. (Heavenly Finance Corporation), Carol Ann Barber, president of the Martian Five-Cents Savings Bank, and Admiral Freddie Metts. Also in the crowd we spot a delegation from U. C. L. A. (Universal College of Lunar Arts), Professors John Zevgetis, Charles Kiggen, and Gerald Gallagher.

Well, here's the big moment! The second rocket ship is about to land! The first Earthian to disembark is the business tycoon of the women's world, Carole Ann Martinez. Next come the members of the engineering crew responsible for the construction of the Winter Tunnel, the Empire City Building, and Charlie's Pizza Parlor, Mike Ross, Mario Curatolo, Richard Oppenheim, Paul Chicklis, and Norm Beshere. Behind them come some of the happiest couples this side of the Moon. They are Sandy Mushkin and Eddie Yazbek, Peggy Cashman and Don, and Diane Connell and her Nova Scotian sweetheart. Hey! look whose getting off! It's Ted Muir, president of G. M. C. (The General Mobile Co.) and his pretty private secretary Diane Theophiles. Down the ramp come Robert 'money bags' Heyman and his brother Professor William Heyman. Next come those two queens of the rink, Shirley Holmes and Diane Brack; with them are Sheldon Moore, Public Relations Executive and his secretarial staff which includes Rosemarie Todisco, Barbara MacLean, and Margaret Gavin. Behind them comes Phil Knights, the famous Navy deep sea diver, who tells the bad news that Mike Gardella was unable to come because he is still paying for his father's car. More of the Armed Forces are represented as Lawrence Hartnett, looking quite snappy in his Marine uniform, and Nancy Sweet, first admiral of the WAVES. Here comes Jean Gallagher, director of the Slenderella Salon, with her two assistants, Carol Diggins and Barbara Von Dohlen, accompanied by social worker Naomi Burton. The last of the passengers are those everlovin' Earthian gals, Elaine Muir, Anne Dwyer, Bev Slocum, Helen Dooley, and Nora Carlson. Last but not least comes the crew: pilot, John Palmieri; co-pilot, Eddie Liljeholm; navigator, Wally Stewart; stewardesses, Ellen Egan, Pat Lawrie, Carol Ryerson, and Judy Gillespie; and those Florence Nightingales of the airways, Maureen McGowan and Maureen Griffin. What's the commotion on the other side of the field? Oh, there are three private rocket ships about to land. First rocket down is Rita Barr's rocket #98. And now, see who's stepping out of that pink Cadillac Rocket! Why it's Sally Parker! The third ship is landing now—it's red, white, and blue! Strike up the band; it's President Ted Clarke and his Vice-President Leo Smith, of the good ole U. S. A! Now that we're all here, let's head for the reunion dinner. What a night we've got planned! But we don't need to tell you about it! You'll be there; won't you?

RUTH MARCUS

CLASS WILL-1956

We the class of 1956, being of sound mind, do establish this will and testament. To B.H.S., our beloved Alma Mater, we leave our fond devotion, our unceasing loyalty, and also a small donation towards the escalator fund. To Mr. Leary we leave our thanks and appreciation for his excellent guidance. To Mr. Fitzgerald we leave our thanks for the help he gave us with the college boards. To Mr. Wellings we leave an extra period to be set aside as a Mr. Wellings appreciation class. To Mr. Kelliher we leave a real gun so that he can use his stapler for stapling. To Miss Adams we leave a French 5 class that can parlez-vous without looking at their book. To Miss Johnson we leave study classes that will come prepared with their own library passes. To Mr. Fickett we leave a set of chemistry primers written in words of one syllable. To Miss Callaghan we leave an escort service. To Miss O'Brien we leave a fresh supply of frogs and worms for the strong-stomached biologists. To Dr. Moore we leave a class that doesn't remember all his jokes. To Mr. Mazer we leave a year's supply of hard doughnuts for those coffee-breaks. To Miss Bailey we leave a home room of early birds. To Mr. Kaufman and next year's Student Council we leave a student body that pays its dues promptly. To Miss Holland we leave classes of all boys. To Mr. Barry we leave bigger and better coffee cups throughout the day. To Miss Glennon we leave an Art Appreciation class that really does appreciate art. To Mr. O'Keeffe we leave a whip for the second floor misbehavers. To Miss Rhodes, Miss Muir and Miss McKissock we leave fond memories of our appreciation. To Mr. Walsh we leave a lunchroom total that always comes out correctly. To Mrs. Heywood we leave fond memories of our all star English Class. To Mr. Burnham we leave young, aspiring, efficient mechanics to place in the automotive world. To Mr. Dowell we leave the peace and quiet he deserves after our departure. To Miss Blagdon and Mrs. Stone we leave a new gym roof that doesn't leak, and a floor that doesn't buckle. To Mr. McCabe we leave a class which — "will-pay-for-their-gym-uniforms-before-legal-suit is brought-against-the school." To Colonel Sullivan we leave an army of crew-cuts. To Miss Marshall we leave a schedule of all free periods except for the seventh; for the little extras she does.

Peter Accola leaves his mechanical "know-how." Tommy Aiello leaves a better customer for his barber than he was. Roderick Ames leaves his athletic ability. August Aquino leaves the adorable nickname of "Oogie." Mary Arsenault leaves her delightful blush. To some angelic junior, Rusty Austin leaves her wings and halo. For some hardworking chemistry student Ann Avery leaves her A's. Maybelle Bacon leaves someone with a voice as sweet as hers to brighten up assemblies. Stanley Baer leaves his collection of sedate ties. Barbara Beaulieu leaves her wooden horse from the Reading Club play. Jack Benstock leaves his reserved seat in Miss Bailey's room. Phil Berkowitz, Martha Fisher, and Clarice Winbush leave their high aims and worthy ambitions. Neddie Bethony and Angela Poulos leave a new phonograph so that next year's dancing duo will be able to do their dance at the right speed the first time. Bobby Bloom leaves a book entitled "How To Get Along With Female Editors." Helen Boland leaves all her old posters to Miss Adams. Bob Brady leaves a lockerful of old shoes. Louise Brown leaves some efficient French "fiver" the job as class secretary. To some tardy Junior, Beverly Broderick leaves her early arrivals. Margy Brosnahan leaves her position as commercial course representative. Rhoda Brown leaves a collection of interesting stories-minus the ending of course. Susan Brown leaves her Eldorado. (Like fun!) James Cahill leaves his horde of cars. Linda Cederman leaves the grass skirt of her dreams. Frannie Cimino leaves her "secretaryship" for practically any club you may have in mind. Brenda Cohen leaves eggs, eggs, and more eggs. Also a few hair ribbons. To next year's singing duo, Marlene Cohen and Tom Nyhan leave the challenge of a Talent Show performance as fine as theirs. Margaret Conway leaves her position as Brighton Citizen Reporter. Walter Conway leaves the teachers happy. Joan Crawford leaves her name foe "The Name's The Same." Naomi Culhane leaves her position as Miss Holland's star pupil. Myrna Davis leaves her quiet, easy going manner. Silvio DeChellis leaves his "Tin Tank." To some efficient Junior, Barbara Delesky leaves her job as Mr. Burke's right hand. John Dwyer leaves his fun-loving ways. Janice Finkle leaves a book entitled Poems for Every Occasion. Margaret Flaherty leaves her new car. David Fox leaves a new assistant for Mr. Walsh. Thomas "Rockefeller" Galvin leaves his millions to some poor Junior. Tom Gemelli leaves next year's team a new water boy. John George leaves his curly hair. Fred Giannelli leaves his twirling baton. Marcia Grosberg doesn't dare leave her new lipstick. Dena Goldenberg leaves the treasury of the Student Council—intact, of course. Michael Hawkins leaves a book entitled How to Remodel Cars in Ten Easy Lessons. Frank Hennessey, and Bob Kizik leave their grease-guns full. Bobby Holenport leaves all the safety pins she's borrowed in gym class. Margie Irving leaves her sweet and pleasant ways. Rita Imbriano leaves a new Gothic editor to run the Purdy's man ragged. Ronny Janey leaves his honors, positions, and abilities to some worthy junior. Johnetta Jones leaves someone else the job of figuring out those solid geometry bafflers. Herbert Kardon leaves his traitorous purple tie. Barbara Kean leaves her height. William Kelly leaves his red hair and freckles. Gerry Lanno leaves her sister to carry on for the cheerleaders. Ann Lapenta leaves her "gift of gab." Dorothy Lewis leaves the task of cleaning up after Mr. Wellings. Judy Loeb leaves a book entitled Laugh and Your Class Laughs With You, by Dr. Henry P. Moore. Tony Longo leaves his skill and ability to next year's basketball team. Marilyn Mann leaves her patience in training new cheerleaders to next year's captain. Marie Martori leaves her sense of humor. Margaret Mawhinney leaves her position as College Course Representative. Laura Mazzola, winner of the Girls' Sports Award, leaves her athletic ability. James McColgan leaves his record punctuality (?). To some brave Junior, Charlie Morrison leaves the challenge of getting out of Miss Adams' French class early, without being told the home lesson. Stanley Nathanson leaves his typewriter—at last. Sam Paolini leaves his talent with the drums. Claudette Parks leaves her dancing ability to somebody else who "got rhythm." Loretta Pearlman leaves both her headaches as art editor, and her gift of gab. Rena Price leaves her standing appointment with Etta. Al "well, then, there, now" Pruitt leaves his toga and gobs of blood. Jean Rabkin leaves a donation to build a private sitting room in 326. Nona Raciti leaves her crown to Mr. Wellings' new "princess." Robert Raymond leaves his conservative taste in clothes. Pat Rich leaves his black hair. Gloria Rocco leaves her collection of ball point pens from Duddy's. Ronnie Rockwell leaves her wardrobe of cashmere sweaters. Roland Roy leaves an audience of swooning girls. Angie Samuelson leaves a pamphlet entitled How to Campaign for Public Office. Larry Sanderson leaves his position as sports editor. Robert Segalla leaves his freckles. Barbara Spear leaves a kennel full of dogs. Burton Stern leaves his $10.00 shoes. Louise Sylvester leaves an efficient successor to manage the executive committee. Sylvia Tchakarides leaves her compliments for Purdy's for those swell pictures. Grant Tice leaves some other hero to tear up the gridiron. Catherine Todd leaves this advice—"Take your class pictures early." Jimmy Tolliver leaves new talent for the track team. Elaine Tsirakis leaves her class spirit and sparkling personality. Clara Terzis leaves her honorary ears for the next treasurer of the Mickey Mouse Club. Sonny Viola leaves his Ford in some Junior's future. Louis Vogel leaves his ability to make friends. Barbara Volante leaves the office in the hands of some capable Junior. Larry Waters leaves his recommendations from Mr. Wellings. Sandra Weatherhead leaves her all "A" report card. James Whalen leaves some Junior the task of carrying on his price war with Gillette. Judy Zalkind leaves her ideas for the latest in ankle casts.

And to some Senior-to-be, who thrives on violent arguments, broken friendships, and sessions after school, we leave the job of writing the last will and testament, and to those who are real gluttons for punishment by all means, join the Prophecy staff.

Let us sand and refinish your floors, and wax them with our electric polishing machine.

We use a special floor finish that seals your floors and protects them against the staining action of water, oil, ink, and other substances.

Floors serviced by us actually increase in beauty with age and use.
